

26th June 2007,

EPP-ED to discuss immigration, maritime and EuroMed policies in Malta

EPP-ED MEPs Simon Busuttil and David Casa, together with PN Assistant Secretary General Angelito Sciberras, briefed the media on the upcoming EPP-ED Study Days to be held in Malta next week.

This event will take place between the 4th and 6th of July and will be a first for our country, bringing up to 278 MEPs in Malta, in addition to four European Commissioners and a number of Ministers from EU and non-EU countries. Ministers will include the Foreign Minister of Jordan, the Slovene Minister for Internal Affairs and the German Minister for Immigration.

The Study Days will debate and provide input for the Group's policy on Euro-Mediterranean relations, the maritime sector and immigration.

The MEPs also announced that in the margins of the Study Days, President Emeritus Guido De Marco will be awarded the prestigious Robert Schuman Medal in recognition of his unstinting life-time efforts on European and Euro-Med issues.
